Wedding Script

WRITTEN BY: [YOUR NAME]

Wedding Script

Written by: [Your Name]

Prelude

Guests are seated as the prelude music plays softly in the background. The atmosphere is filled with anticipation and joy.

Processional

The processional music begins, signaling the start of the ceremony. The officiant, wedding party, and groom take their places. The bride makes her entrance, accompanied by her chosen escort, her father, John.

Welcome and Opening Remarks

Officiant:

"Dearly beloved, we are gathered here today to witness and celebrate the union of Emily Johnson and Michael Smith in marriage. Today is a day of great joy and reverence, as we stand together to support this couple in their decision to share their lives together."

Giving Away the Bride

Officiant:

"Who gives this woman to be married to this man?"

John responds: "I do."

John takes his seat, and Emily and Michael step forward, facing the officiant.
